President to Hold News Conference Wednesday, But Time is Uncertain

Hagerty Says He Doesn't Know Ike's Decision

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—President Eisenhower "in all probability" will hold a news conference Wednesday, White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said today.

But Hagerty insisted that he "wouldn't know" whether Mr. Eisenhower plans to announce then his decision on a second term.

Hagerty also said he "cannot tell" yet what time the news conference will be held. In the past, Mr. Eisenhower has most frequently held White House news conferences at 9:30 a. m. CST.

The press secretary declined to say whether Mr. Eisenhower's announcement will be made after the 2:30 p. m. CST closing of the New York stock market to minimize its effect on market prices.

"Do you know the President's intentions?" he was asked.

"If I did know, I would not tell you."

No Public Cue

Hagerty was reminded that he said in Thomaston that Mr. Eisenhower had not communicated his decision to anyone in Washington.

Asked if that still held, Hagerty said he was not going to discuss the matter "and that doesn't mean yes or no."

Asked if the White House had requested radio or television time for the President this week, Hagerty answered with a flat "No."

Mr. Eisenhower has said that he expected to make his decision by the end of this month, and that he was inclined to announce it at a news conference. Wednesday is Feb. 29, the last day of the month.

Belief that Mr. Eisenhower will say "yes" has been strong in Republican circles in the last few days.

But Mr. Eisenhower himself has offered no public clue since he returned from his 11-day vacation in south Georgia, where he tested his physical strength with fairly strenuous golfing and hunting.

Some sources close to Mr. Eisenhower looked for a "yes, but..." answer.

According to this report, Mr. Eisenhower would say "Yes, I will run, provided my health remains good."

But the man who campaigned against Mr. Eisenhower in 1952 as the Democrats' vice presidential nominee—Sen. John J. Sparkman (D-Ala.)—said Sunday he did not believe Mr. Eisenhower would run again. He said Mr. Eisenhower would not discuss his health so frequently and with such preoccupation unless he planned to bow out.

Busy Schedule Planned

On this, his first working day in his office since Feb. 45, Mr. Eisenhower planned a busy schedule. His announced appointments held little promise of political enlightenment.

They included meetings with the National Security Council, the Joint Chiefs of Staff and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and separate greetings to an old personal friend, Lt. Gen. John D. O'Daniel, and to Italian President Giovanni Gronchi, who was scheduled to arrive for a state visit in the early afternoon.

Resume Pumping At Reservoirs

Harrisburg got only a slight rain Friday night but rains in the Galatia area swelled Middle Fork creek to such an extent that pumping water into the reservoirs was resumed at noon Saturday and continued today.

The rain here measured but .13 inch; however the precipitation at Galatia was .84 inch, Amos Doom, water and sewer department superintendent, reported. The creek rose so fast that all pumps were started at noon and were still operating.

Doom said that the north reservoir was full, the south reservoir about 24 inches from full early today. About five inches of water was running over the Lake Harrisburg spillway this morning.

Industrial Advisory Board to Hold Public Meeting at SIU on March 19

CARBONDALE, Ill.—What does your community have that may make it attractive to industry? This is the question that will be asked at 7:30 p. m. March 19, when the advisory board of the Division of Industrial Planning and Development holds a public meeting in Shryock Auditorium at Southern Illinois university.

The division is a part of the Illinois Department of Registration and Education.

Every southern Illinois community interested in attracting industry is invited to send a sizeable delegation of citizens to the meeting which will be sponsored jointly by the advisory board, Southern Illinois Incorporated, and Southern Illinois university. Each delegation will be asked to name a spokesman and to file a detailed brief with the board. Spokesmen will be limited to three minutes each in order that the meeting may be concluded by 9:30 p. m.

"Purpose of this meeting is to find what specific assets each community has," Fred R. Falkenstein, superintendent of the state's newly activated division, said today.

"Our office receives numerous inquiries. We must compile quickly a complete and accurate community reference file. The board is not interested in what a community does not have. The board is interested in how each community can help the board to help industries seeking locations."

"Facts presented by spokesmen in writing should cover such items as labor supply, available sites and buildings, public utilities, tax rates, water supply, and other resources."

The division was created by the last legislature to assemble information regarding industrial opportunities of the state and to encourage new industrial enterprises to locate in Illinois. The evening meeting at SIU will follow the board's regular monthly meeting in the afternoon.

Board members are: Oldham Paisley, Marion; Paul Dorris, Carterville; Maurice L. Campbell, Benton; Wilfred F. Hoelscher, Granite City; Richard Nowinson, Chicago; Clifford O. Scheuerman, Rock Island; Gene W. Gunther, Galesburg; James Stupka, Kankakee; P. H. Sproat, Decatur; Charles W. Furst, Freeport; Raymond A. Schulze, Chicago; Roy K. Dallas, Peoria; Alex K. Scherer, Ottawa; George M. Pendell, Mattoon; and Earl McMahon, Chicago.

New Storm Center Follows Tornado Path

Major Job of Rebuilding in Stricken Areas

By United Press

A new storm center kicked up dust clouds in the Southwest today and raced along the path blazed by Saturday's killer winds and tornadoes.

U. S. weather forecasters did not expect a renewal of the weekend blast, which left at least 14 dead across the nation according to a United Press count.

However, weathermen predicted a clash with warmer air in the storm's push toward the Ohio Valley. They warned of strengthening winds over a widespread area.

More dust was expected in the Southwest, which weathered its worst dust storm of the season Friday and Saturday. The new dusts cut visibility to a mile and less in west Texas Sunday and ground-churning winds hit as high as 60 miles per hour in New Mexico.

In the Midwest, and particularly in southern Illinois, there was a major job of rebuilding to do.

Hundreds Homeless

The little town of Summerfield, Ill., hardest hit by Saturday's twisters, lay in ruins. Most of its buildings were flattened or wrecked and hundreds of families in the town and surrounding St. Clair County were homeless.

There were three dead at Summerfield and four more elsewhere in Illinois. The big storm was also blamed for two deaths each in Ohio, Oklahoma, and Missouri, one in Texas.

The big storm churned its way from Texas to New England before moving into eastern Canada.

Serene weather followed in its wake, but violent weather caused trouble elsewhere in the nation.

Near Pullman, Wash., Sunday night a West Coast Airlines DC3 crash-landed in a field during a blinding snowstorm. Four of the 15 passengers were injured, none seriously.

And at Royalton, Vt., four persons were killed when their pickup truck was smashed by a train at a railroad crossing. Police said the gravel road was ice-covered in spots.

Funeral Services Held Saturday for Mrs. Jacob Siddall

The funeral of Mrs. Katie Siddall, widow of Jacob Siddall, and sister of Mrs. J. C. Robertson, who died Wednesday, was held Saturday at 2 p. m. at the chapel in the Harrisburg funeral home.

Rev. Joe Morman conducted the service, at which James Williams, accompanied by Miss Frances Cummins, was a soloist. Burial was at Elmwood cemetery, Equality.

Four of the nephews of Mrs. Siddall served as pallbearers. They were George B. Aydelotte, George M. Robertson, James Carnett, and Jack Oppenlander, who were assisted by Jess Dennison and Otto Barnard.

Relatives who came from a distance included James Carnett and family, Lockport, Ill.; Jack Oppenlander and son, Chicago; Dan Widemann, St. Louis; and Mrs. Virginia Ozment, Tulsa, Okla.

Two stepsons, Kelly Siddall, Cincinnati, and Dr. Halton Siddall, Poplar Bluff, Mo., were not able to come to the funeral.

17 Killed on Illinois Highways

By United Press

At least 17 persons died on Illinois highways during the weekend. All but a few of the deaths occurred in Chicago and nearby counties.

They ordered a lot in Woodlawn cemetery that would accommodate two caskets. One bearing the body of Eileen will be lowered into a grave in the lot Tuesday. The other half of the lot is reserved for twin sister, Kathleen Jo. The parents feared the end for her wouldn't be too far off.

Doctors planned to start giving Kathleen blood transfusions this week. She'll receive 1½ to 2 pints this week—a half-pint at a time.

By next week they hope she will be able to go home. But it only will be temporary. In two, or three, possibly four weeks, it will be another trip to the hospital.

Then more transfusions. Maybe home again. At the age of two, leukemia usually strikes quickly. Only a miracle appears likely to save her.

Purchase Home

Mr. and Mrs. Winfield Lewis, 213 North Grant street, have sold their home to Mr. and Mrs. Connie Ziegler, who will occupy their new residence sometime in March. Contact with the purchaser was made through a Daily Register classified ad. The Lewises plan to move to an apartment as soon as they dispose of some of their household furnishings which are also advertised in Register classifieds.

Douglas Hears Economic Plight of Fluorspar Miners

Two Sentenced In Federal Court For Bootlegging

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill. (U.P.)—Two southern Illinois men were sentenced to prison Friday and a third man was placed on probation after all pleaded guilty to bootlegging.

Ben Griffith, 50, Brookport, received the stiffest sentence, three years in prison, a $500 fine and three years probation after he finishes serving his term.

Howard Stubblefield, 38, Grand Chain, was sentenced to one year in prison. Benjamin Horn, 24, also of Grand Chain, was fined $250 and placed on probation for four years.

State police arrested Stubblefield and Horn Nov. 15 when a routine traffic check of their truck disclosed 100 jugs of illegal whisky. Revenue agents and state police found a large still at Horn's farm and the two men implicated Griffith.

Two Killed, One Missing in Crash

LISLE, Ill. (U.P.)—Two teenagers were killed and a third was missing and feared dead today in an automobile accident which followed a game of "bumper tag."

Sheriff's deputies held for questioning Mike Janoski, 23, and his brother, Bob, 19, Downers Grove.

Deputies said the brothers admitted playing "bumper tag" with another car which later hurtled the Du Page river and smashed into a culvert.

The Janoskis told deputies they were following the other car at 25 m.p.h. when it suddenly "took off" at high speed.

Deputies said the "bumper tag" episode followed a teen-age party at which a fight occurred.

The body of Phyllis Switzer, 17, Downers Grove, was found pinned under the wreckage of the smashed convertible.

Another 17-year-old girl, Muriel Fuller of Lisle, died three hours after the smashup at Edwards Hospital in Naperville, Ill. Three other occupants of the car were in serious condition at the hospital.

Police dragged a branch of the Du Page River today for the body of the car's driver, Jack Fleetwood, 18, of Belmont, Ill. They believed he, too, had been killed.

The three injured teenagers were Allen Fiest, 18, of Naperville, Mary E. Vlasaty, 17, of Downers Grove, Ill., and Phyllis Switzer's 15-year-old sister, Sandra.

Witnesses said the young people's convertible was racing another car along Ill. 53 south of Lisle when it went into a 200-foot skid.

The death car went off the road, hurtled 25 feet across the river, and smashed into the culvert, authorities said.

The other car kept going and police searched for it today.

Hearing Fourth In Series on Depressed Areas

Witnesses Tell of Aid Needed by Area Communities

By ROBERT L. ULLRICH
United Press Staff Correspondent
ROSLICLARE, Ill. (U.P.)—Sen. Paul Douglas (D-Ill.) heard today the economic plight of miners forced on relief because of the closing of fluorspar mines in this area.

The testimony was given in the fourth of a series of hearings on depressed areas of southern Illinois. Douglas, chairman of a Senate labor subcommittee, is sponsoring a bill to give 200 million dollars worth of aid to such areas and he is using the hearings to determine whether there is support for the measure.

A gloomy word picture of once-thriving coal mining towns was painted for Douglas Saturday at Johnston City. Everyone of 15 witnesses told of growing unemployment, rising relief roles, broken families and declining property values. All urged passage of Douglas' bill.

Mayor Neil Thurmond of Johnston City led off more than four hours of testimony by telling Douglas Johnston City has helped itself but has "reached the saturation point to help ourselves."

Calls It Depression

"This depression has sapped our economic strength," he said, "and we ask only the same consideration given by the government to other areas."

"The revival of coal mining won't be enough; we need new industries to provide employment for our people who now are forced to leave their home city to look for jobs."

D. A. Laird, president of the Mount Vernon Chamber of Commerce, said his city had 1,050 persons unemployed in October, 1955. At the same time, 932 persons were working outside of Mount Vernon and leaving their families there in the homes they own and returning weekends for visits.

Laird said the closing of three factories—including the Pressed Steel Car Co., railroad car shops between 1951 and 1954 created unemployment that local efforts have not been able to remedy.

Residents Make Effort

He said Mount Vernon residents did not sit idly by when that happened but raised funds to attract new industries which now employ 350 persons with prospects for larger payrolls.

Robert Henderson, executive secretary of the Mount Vernon Chamber of Commerce, said his city had 1,050 persons unemployed in October, 1955. At the same time, 932 persons were working outside of Mount Vernon and leaving their families there in the homes they own and returning weekends for visits.

Hundreds of others involved in the bottle and rock throwing, fist-fighting, window smashing and clashes with police escaped arrest, police said.

The disorders started with "scratch races" by hot-rod fans on the main street Saturday night following the day's events staged at the National Association of Stock Car Auto Racing, holding its annual "speed week" here.

The suspects arrested at the scene, mostly teenagers or men in their early 20s, ranged in age from 17 to 51, authorities said. Officials said none was connected with the Nascar events.

By the time Guardsmen moved in with fixed bayonets the mob estimated as numbering 3,000 to 4,000 persons had caused an estimated $15,000 damage to police cars, parked automobiles and store fronts.

Fifteen persons were injured, three of them hospitalized.

"It was a mess," Police Capt. A. L. Folsom Jr. said.

Five Drown in Boating Tragedy

COBB ISLAND, Md. (U.P.)—A gay boating excursion ended in tragedy Sunday when a high-powered speedboat sank, drowning five of its occupants, including a girl who was to be married this week.

The red and white boat hit a sandbar and sank in the lower Potomac River. One of the two women who survived the tragedy said "it felt like the whole bottom of the boat was ripped out."

The dead were identified as P. C. Woodzell, Warrenton, Va., owner of the boat; Glinda and Kaye Stafford, St. Mary's County, Md.; Faye Rountree, Washington, D. C.; and Russell Walling, a Colonial Beach, Va., night club employee.

The two survivors of the tragedy were identified as Linda Knight, of Washington, D. C., and Barbara Ann Russell, of River Springs, Md.

A search was renewed today for the bodies of Walling and Glinda Stafford, officially listed as missing. Hope for them was abandoned Sunday when no trace had been found hours after the accident.

Mrs. Audrey Knight, mother of Linda Knight and a neighbor of Miss Rountree, said the Rountree girl was to have been married to a sailor stationed at Bainbridge, Md.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Turn not to the right hand nor to the left. Remove thy foot from evil.—Pr. 4:27.
If we have an important objective in life we should not be diverted therefrom by trifles.

Red Cross Drive

Throughout the year the American people call upon the Red Cross for help. Once each year this great humanitarian organization turns to the people for support.

This year marks the 75th anniversary of the founding of the American Red Cross and on March 1, 1,500,000 volunteers will launch the 1956-57 campaign for members and funds. They will be calling upon us for the means to carry on the agency's proud record of providing assistance wherever and whenever it is needed.

When disaster strikes, the Red Cross is neighborliness in action, providing shelter and clothing for the homeless, food for the hungry, medical and nursing care for the ill and injured, information for anxious families and friends, and long-term aid to victims who cannot get started again without help.

The Eastern States Flood in 1955, the second largest disaster operation in the history of the American Red Cross, affected 41,000 families, of whom 16,025 applied to the Red Cross for assistance. A total of $17 million was spent by the Red Cross in six states to relieve the suffering of disaster victims during the emergency period as well as long after the flood waters receded. Many families seriously injured or wiped out financially needed long-term assistance before they could again be self-supporting members of their communities.

Although Disaster Services is one of the most dramatic programs of the Red Cross, it is only one of ten distinct activities carried on under the organization's Congressional Charter. Services to the Armed Forces and Veterans, civil peacekeeping, account for 41 percent of the total budget; Nursing Services enroll registered nurses for community service, conduct home nursing courses, and train volunteer nurses' aides; Safety Services train thousands in first aid and water safety skills each year; helps to strengthen the Red Cross throughout the world; Junior Red Cross program in the schools lets youngsters serve their communities and those in other lands; the Red Cross Blood Program provides a channel for the "gift of life" to patients in civilian as well as military hospitals; and, finally, volunteers serve their communities through their Red Cross chapters in many other needed ways.

The Red Cross is truly neighbor helping neighbor — without the generous support of the American people, volunteering funds, time, and even their blood, the past 75 years of Red Cross service could never have been performed. Keep the Red Cross on the job—join and serve so that the future will be as bright as the Red Cross record of the past.

The Heart Fund

Editorial — BY BRUCE BOSSAT
As always, February is the month of the annual Heart Fund drive. The cause is worthy, and it has been put in especially sharp focus this year by the fact that the President of the United States has suffered a heart attack.

In truth it should not take so dramatic a reminder to stir our interest in combating this great killer. Three quarters of a million people die each year from heart and circulatory diseases, more than are killed by the next five leading causes of death.

It is estimated that 1.25 billion man-hours of work are lost to the nation every year as result of heart ailments.

Mr. Eisenhower's illness has shown us vividly what this loss can mean when it comes to people at the summit of our national life. But the damage is just as real, and cumulatively much greater, when measured at more ordinary levels.

One finds it hard to realize that about 10 million people, or one out of every 16 Americans, now suffer from some form of heart or circulatory disease. Most astonishing is that 500,000 children are affected.

Ninety per cent of the damage is done by three principal ailments — hardening of the arteries, which sets the stage for what we call heart attacks; high blood pressure, and rheumatic fever.

In spite of the huge toll, heart authorities are able to report that progress has been and still is being made. There is hope for everyone, too, in prompt diagnosis and careful treatment. Restoration to useful lives is possible for most

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says: Some Doctors Disagree With Dr. White Regarding President's Health; Dr. White's Own Medical Advice Appears To Contradict His Recent Statements; GOP Politicians Operate Today As Democrats Did On FDR In 1944.

WASHINGTON. — It is not always a happy job for a newspaperman to publish facts which may not be palatable to a large body of people in the United States.

This may have been one reason why I, along with others, was guilty of not reporting the state of President Roosevelt's health when he ran again in 1944. I did report in some detail the mad scramble of the Democratic bosses to pick their own candidate, Senator Truman, for vice president at the Chicago convention because they feared the President might not last his term.

But I and other newsmen failed to report on Roosevelt's health.

Potluck Dinner Enjoyed By Galatia Rebekah Lodge

The Galatia Rebekah lodge held its regular meeting Thursday evening, Feb. 23, with a potluck dinner served at 6:30 p. m. to over fifty people.

Out of town guests present were Ella Chase, May Dallas, Pete Holmes, Thelma O'Neal and Jane Pankey of Carrier Mills, Madge Johnson who conducted a school of instruction, Gertrude White, Alta Williams, Bessie Borders, Rebecca Thompson, Reba Burbank, Eva Rounds, Effie Beal and Mrs. Roscoe Johnson, all of Harrisburg, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ross of McLeansboro.

Mr. and Mrs. Jewel Cook of Kankakee were in Galatia on business this week. They are former residents of here.

heart attack victims and other sufferers.

But much more work needs to be done. Money is the great weapon. Hence the Heart Fund, which supports research, education, and community heart programs. Most of the money it collects goes to the support of state and local heart associations. That which is held out from them goes to advance vital research and other efforts of the American Heart Association.

The demands upon our charity dollars are of course constant and heavy. But the Heart Fund is one of the rock-bottom enterprises we cannot neglect. A healthier nation is the prize we are bidding for when we answer this call.

beyond stating the known fact that he had gone on a cruise to Alaska at the height of the war to rest from the strain. There was, of course, a wartime censorship which protected much of what the President did. We seldom saw him. Besides, it is unpleasant and disagreeable to warn publicly that a man may die in office.

Yet when the office of President is all-important to the well-being of the United States and the safety of the world, those unpleasant facts have to be faced and I resolved after the omission of the press in 1944 never to be remiss again.

That is why I reported as early as Aug. 4, 1953 that President Eisenhower had a heart condition and had to take very good care of himself. This was denied by Mr. Hagerty, but nevertheless it was true.

IKE'S HEALTH HISTORY

It was not only true, but a well-known fact in the higher echelons of the Army and among Eisenhower's friends that he had high blood pressure. He also had a very serious illness in the summer of 1949 and had to go to Key West, Florida, for two months to recover. These are facts which the public has a right to know about anyone who holds the high office of President instead of having those facts hushed up and denied.

It is quite clear from President Eisenhower's own statements that he is not a party to hushing them up. He has talked frequently about the erosion on the health of the President, has urged Republican leaders to build up other men, and no later than the other day on the golf course expressed fear about his physical condition.

It is also quite clear that, as with Roosevelt, the men around Eisenhower are pushing him, all most goading him to run—for the same reason: the men around Roosevelt pushed him up onto the sacrificial election block—namely, so they can remain in office.

By the time this appears in print, President Eisenhower may well have made public his final decision. And this column is not writing to influence him, but rather to warn those who are goading him and to inform the American public, which has not entirely realized what is happening.

The public does not, for instance, realize that many doctors, Republican doctors, have been aghast that Dr. Paul D. White should make a report to the nation so obviously contrary to known medical knowledge and to his own previous medical advice.

Dr. White, for instance, gave advice quite contrary to his report on Eisenhower when he wrote in the annals of internal medicine, December, 1951, page 1291, regarding heart patients.

"Fear, great pleasure, anger, and the excitement of an athletic contest, such as viewing a football game or boxing match, directly or by television, or even listening to one over the radio, have caused innumerable deaths in patients with serious heart diseases, especially, those with coronary insufficiency."

"One of the rules in treatment that we have advised for many years," continued Dr. White, "is that such patients avoid nervous strain."

"Sudden death," he said, "may result from what may seem a minor nervous or emotional strain."

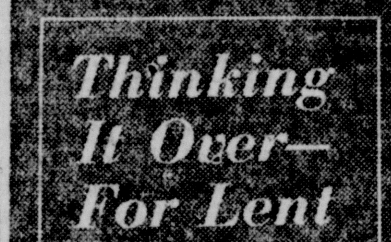

IKE'S NERVOUS TENSIONS

Yet the Presidency is a position which must normally absorb constant strains and nervous decisions. Word may come that U. S. troops are standing by in the Near East, ready to intervene to prevent war; or that the Chinese Reds have attacked Quemoy and Matsu and a decision is necessary as to whether we should drop the atom bomb.

Or the President may be informed that a certain senator is attacking him; or a disturbing question may be asked in a press conference; or a cabinet member may resign or be asked to resign. These are frequent events in the life of a President—the most harassing, nerve-wracking office in the world.

If General Eisenhower decides to run—and his decision may be announced before this gets into print—than I shall hope and pray that he will be spared a long life and that he shall finish out his term. If Ike decides not to run, then I hope he will use his talents in the international field, perhaps as head of the United Nations. But having been among those who failed to report the facts regarding Roosevelt's health in 1944, I trust that I have filled my job as a reporter in the somewhat similar situation existing today.

In our Lenten Meditations, it is well to consider the simple things of life as well as the complex problems, facing a confused world.

A glass of water is such a simple thing that we take it for granted without realizing what it does for us.

This insignificant water itself furnishes the moisture needed for every single cell of the body. Our skin, our blood, our hair, our nerves, our digestive organs are largely water.

The glass of water we drink keeps us from drying up. It washes away the impurities which we breathe into our lungs and which we take into our stomachs with our food.

Water furnishes the medium for digestion and for scores of body functions. It is basic for life, but we take it for granted and give little thought to its source of use.

The Creator Who made us and the things to keep life going made a lot of elemental things. He keeps us supplied with plenty of these simple things. It might be well to pause occasionally and say, "Thank You, God, for a glass of water."

The things we take for granted are too important to be passed over lightly.

Helicopter Rescues Three Survivors Of Plane Crash

MADRID, Spain (U)—A U. S. Air Force helicopter Sunday rescued the three survivors of an Air Force transport plane who spent two bitterly cold nights high in the mountains with the bodies of three of their comrades.

The C47 plane crashed this week end on a flight from France to Getafe, Spain, and the wreckage was spotted by a helicopter. Two teams of Air Force paramedics dropped on the scene and spent Saturday night with the survivors.

The survivors were flown directly to the American Military hospital in Madrid. All were conscious and were listed as in "satisfactory conditions."

Rev. Bert Lancaster, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon Lancaster, 19 West Lincoln, who is minister of the Girard circuit of Methodist churches in Nilwood and the rural areas and who attends Blackburn college, Carlinville, has been placed on the dean's list at the college for an outstanding record and scholastic average for the past semester.

In order to attain a place on the dean's list, a student must carry an A in all courses in which he is enrolled.

Rev. Lancaster will graduate from Blackburn in June and will enter Garrett Biblical Institute in Evanston next September for three years seminary work.

Presley Offers Plan to Help Area Economy

A far-reaching plan to aid the economy of southern Illinois was presented to the Senator Douglas Depressed Area committee Saturday in Johnston City.

The plan called for turning much of the unproductive land in the lower 16 counties into grazing areas by creating a "Southern Illinois Grassland Authority" financed by Government-backed private capital to clear, subsoil, disc, fertilize, lime, seed and dig ponds on some 5,000 large farms or "Ranches," averaging 200 tillable acres each. Some tracts would be purchased outright and others improved for present owners.

After the land is ready for grazing, the "Authority" would stock it to suit qualifying tenants with young milk or beef cattle or sheep. Payments to retire the loans would be made with checkoffs on all sales.

Author of the plan, Wayman Presley of Makanda, said he had been assembling information for it during the past two years intending to press for it after completion of the Bald Knob Cross project which he expects to occupy his spare time during the next two or three years, at least.

Since it now appears that genuine interest is being shown in the welfare of the area, he decided to drop the idea into the hopper at this time hoping that someone else will pick it up and follow through.

He stated that experiments at Dixon Springs proves that this land is ideal for grazing with long growing season. Marketing outlets indicate ready sales for all that can be produced.

The plan calls for an initial set-up of 30 "Authority" owned and operated units of modern machinery to begin at once, actual cost to be charged against each tract. Every business and person in "Little Egypt" would benefit from such a plan, he said, and that its overall cost would not be much greater than what it is going to cost Congress to find out who got the $2,500 in the Gas Bill case.

Gov't Expands Enforcement of Wage-Hour Law

WASHINGTON (U)—The government is expanding its wage-hour law enforcement machinery to handle the extra headaches expected when the federal minimum wage goes from 75 cents to $1 an hour on March 1.

Administrator Newell Brown told the United Press the agency is opening 27 new permanent field offices and adding 325 men to its field investigating staffs. This will bring the number of offices to 68 and the staff to 800 men.

He said the expansion is intended to assure that there will be no willful evasion of the new minimum Congress voted last year.

The wage-hour law applies to some 24 million workers engaged in or closely allied with interstate commerce. They now receive some 82 billion dollars a year in wages and the 25-cent hike in minimum is expected to increase the total by 560 million dollars or some 0.7 per cent.

Brown said the increase will have the greatest impact in the South and his staff expansion will be proportionately greater there.

Plans to Ask Probe of Area Power Rates

SPRINGFIELD — State Rep. Bert Baker (D-Benton) said today he intends to ask for an investigation of excessive power rates in southern Illinois by the 1957 Legislature.

Baker, a candidate for re-election from the 57th District, said "excessive power rates have discouraged potential large power-using industries from locating in southern Illinois."

He said home-owners pay "as much as double prevailing rates for similar service in Springfield." He said despite denials by utility firms that there is a shortage of power, there are time clocks on water heaters so many people cannot wash clothes and bathe on the same day.

Baker said he will also co-sponsor a bill requiring that the Illinois Commerce Commission hold hearings on proposed rate increases in the areas affected.

He said the ICC has granted rate increases in the area in the past after hearings held in Springfield. He said people from southern Illinois could not afford the time or expense of a trip to Springfield.

Most communities in southern Illinois get power service either from Central Illinois Public Service Co. or Illinois Power Co.

Baker said one large industrial firm wrote that one of its reasons for failing to locate a plant employing 5,000 in southern Illinois was high-cost power.

Similar charges were made a month ago by Rep. Paul Powell (D-Vienna), who said the area lost the Olin-Mathieson Corp. aluminum plant because of a shortage of available power. But CIP's denied this, stating it had offered to build a new power plant to provide power for the aluminum plant if it was built in the area.

Downstate Fisherman's Guide

By PETE BROWN
(Compiled from reports by the Southern Illinois University Cooperative Fisheries Research Laboratory and the Illinois Department of Conservation)

With the first robin still a seasonal holdout, southern Illinois fishermen already have recorded their first hargling of spring—the white crappie.

Weather permitting, crappie fishing should be at its best for the next six weeks according to the experts. Largemouth bass will start hitting in another two or three weeks.

Although bass and crappie fishing accounts for the biggest share of angling activity in southern Illinois, bluegill, carp, bullhead and catfish claim plenty of attention. So with lake and stream beckoning once again, the people who are paid to fish—researchers in Southern Illinois University's Cooperative Fisheries Research Laboratory—have set down a few regional rules.

William Lewis, director of the laboratory, doesn't guarantee surecatch success, but he does say the capsule guide will cut down the margin of "the one that got away" tragedies.

Places to Fish
As for environment and likely game, southern Illinois shapes up like this:
Lakes: Crab Orchard, Little Grassy, Horseshoe, Lake Murphysboro, and Lake Glendale—large-mouth bass, crappie, bluegill and some bullhead.
Clear water streams: Clear Creek, Big Creek, Big and Little Grand Pierre and Lusk Creek—Kentucky bass and green sunfish.
Rivers: Big Muddy, Cache, Mississippi and Ohio—catfish, sheepshead, carp, crappie and some bullhead.

Minnow fishing is an early spring favorite of the crappie and bass devotees, and success is more likely if a hook of one half inch gape (No. 6) is used, with the bait hooked above the backbone. Use one or two b-b shot and a light float on a six pound test line, fishing three to six feet deep.

Since crappie move in schools, it's best to move the bait until fish are encountered, or, in some cases, anchor and fish along the shoreline until feeding schools pass by. Once the school is located, restrict your fishing to that exact location.

Variety of Plugs
Minnows are also good bait for largemouth bass, which will be caught (it says here) incidentally to crappie fishing. Some anglers prefer a larger minnow for the lunkers.

Plug fishing in southern Illinois is restricted primarily to largemouth bass, crappie and bluegill.

Formula of Patience
In fishing for blueheads, use a gob of worms on a hook with three-eighths inch gape. Bottom-fish, letting the bait remain in one location for as long as 30 minutes or an hour. A casting rod with just enough weight to permit casting (half an ounce or so) is a satisfactory rig. The same patient formula also applies to sheepshead.

Flyfishing and spinning, using a spoon or spinner-fly combination, are chiefly used in clear water streams. Around the shores of southern Illinois lakes, popping bugs or wet flies will produce bass and sunfish.

Anna Students Rally to Support Principal Houghton

ANNA, Ill. (AP)—Students at Anna-Jonesboro High school have rallied to support their principal who is being ousted from the job he has held for eight years.

The students are circulating petitions protesting the failure of the school board to renew the contract of Paul Houghton, who has been here 17 years, 9 of them as coach and 8 as principal.

There were reports today that the student petitions may be presented at a special school board meeting Monday night. The school board voted 4-3 against renewing Houghton's contract when they held their regular meeting last Monday night.

None of the school board members would say why Houghton's contract is not being renewed.

Use an ice cube tray for hardening fudge to give uniform pieces. Butter the tray lightly so the partitions can be easily removed.

Bluegill are usually caught with worms, crickets or cockroaches. The ideal bluegill rig consists of a long pole, a six pound test line, a light float, one or two b-b shot for weight, and a hook with a quarter inch gape (No. 8 or 10). Fish deep for the larger ones, particularly as summer approaches, using crickets or roaches. Retrieve the bait frequently and cast again, letting it drift down to deeper water.

Smaller bluegill are frequently found in shallower water above the large specimens and will damage a worm bait as it descends. Bluegill are easily frightened, so the fishermen should keep quiet while trying to locate a school. Like crappie, bluegill tend to congregate.

When "crayfishing" for catfish, use a casting or spinning rod with just enough weight to make the bait castable. Use crayfish tail, pieces of gizzard shad and minnows for bait. Fish in pools below rapids in particular.

Carp fishing in the area is done primarily with doughballs, dangled quietly on the bottom. To make this traditional bait, combine equal parts of flour and yellow or white cornmeal and add the mixture, a teaspoonful at a time, to boiling water. Knead the resulting paste into a large mass, pinching off bait size chunks. Some diehard carp fans insist on spicing up this mixture with vanilla, cinnamon and syrup, but there is no evidence that carp are discriminating in choice of pastry.

Lake Murphysboro, a topnotch bluegill repository, is also yielding redear sunfish, a new species. Some channel catfish are also caught at Lake Murphysboro. Good luck!

Looking at Sports

BY BILL MELTON

The top three in Saline county basketball—Carrier Mills, Harrisburg and Eldorado (order of finish in the Saline County Tournament)—had to hurry to complete the regular season in time to start regional action Tuesday.

All three finished regular season competition Saturday, Feb. 25, and the McLeansboro regional gets underway today, Feb. 27, just two days later. Harrisburg and Eldorado meet in the opening round this evening. Carrier Mills swings into action Tuesday.

All three schools played twenty-three games during the season just completed. Carrier Mills and Eldorado finished with identical won-and-lost records—15 victories and 8 losses. Harrisburg, playing in the tough South Seven, won four and dropped 19.

Eldorado finished on a high note, copying the last four decisions and three of the victories were over teams assigned to the McLeansboro regional. In the space of four playing dates, spread over a nine-day period, the Eagles beat McLeansboro, Harrisburg and Carrier Mills of the regional teams and Metropolis.

The Eagles' season record against regional teams: McLeansboro 1-1, Harrisburg 2-1, Norris City 0-1, Carrier Mills 1-0. Along the season's trail Eldorado scored 1408 points and allowed 1278. Lindell Lovellette and Ronnie Clark, with 385 and 363 points respectively, paced the team's scoring. However, the Eagles had a fairly well balanced attack as four others hit for more than 100 markers. Watson had 170, Stroke 166, Willis 133 and Laffoon 124. Seven others contributed points, but in much smaller totals.

Eldorado has had its ups-and-downs this season, looking very bad on occasions and very good on others. The team apparently has reached its peak just at tournament time.

Harrisburg has played the toughest schedule of any team in the McLeansboro regional, facing each of the South Seven schools twice, plus other toughies. The Bull Dogs have looked good and bad, and strangely enough, some of the best performances have resulted in losses for Harrisburg.

Feb. 3 the Bull Dogs played a highly favored Mt. Vernon team. Another defeat was at Carbondale 58-56 and a good Marion team edged out with a 53-51 victory Jan. 7. Probably the high point of the season was the 64-62 Harrisburg win over strong Johnston City Dec. 17. Other games that gave the local fans a lot of enjoyment were the 64-59 victory over Benton, the 67-57 win from Eldorado in the Saline county tourney and the recent 53-48 South Seven victory from West Frankfort.

Harrisburg's schedule included only two regional entrants—Eldorado and Carrier Mills. The Bull Dogs have won one of three from Eldorado and dropped both contests with Carrier Mills.

For the season Harrisburg scored 1,172 points and allowed 1,465. Stone is the team's top scorer with 315 points. Others high in the scoring column are Williams 210, Fulkerson 194, Henshaw 181 and Baul 138.

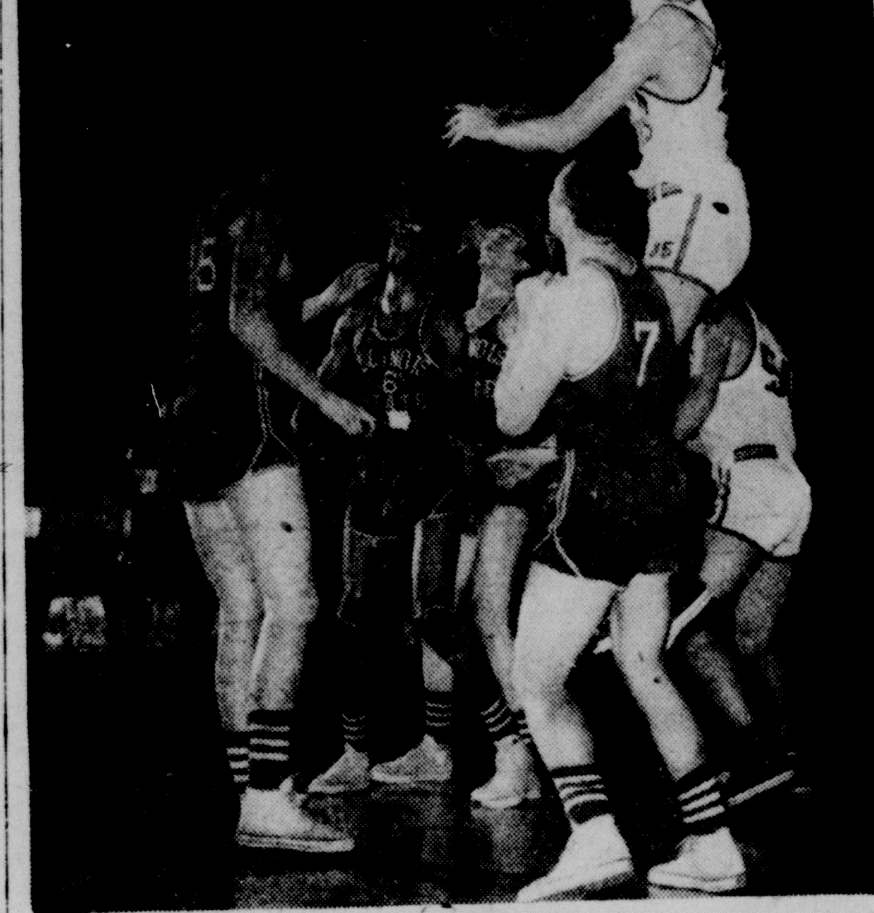

The Carrier Mills Wildcats, getting into regional play Tuesday facing Equality, opened the season on a losing note, had a long winning streak and then has dropped off again as the schedule ends. The Wildcats dropped three of their first four and four of the first six and after ten games were 5-5.

Then the 'Cats rolled for eight straight victories, including two in the Saline county tournament. Highly rated McLeansboro, Carbondale Attacks and Norris City also fell victims of the winning Wildcats.

In the last five games Carrier Mills dropped games to McLeansboro, Norris City and Eldorado while winning from Galatia and Rosiclare.

The team was slowed by the illness of its top scorer Oliver Rollins, who had the flu. Although he didn't miss a game, he definitely wasn't up to par in the closing games.

Against regional teams Carrier Mills has a 4-4 record, losing its only game to Shawneetown, holding two victories in many tries against Harrisburg, having split two game series with both McLeansboro and Norris City and dropped a single encounter to Eldorado.

Regional Play Will Begin Tonight; West Rockford Five Favored to Repeat

By United Press
Champion Rockford West favored to repeat as Illinois high school basketball champion, takes the court against Rockton Hononogah tonight as regional tournament play begins.

Twenty-three regionals start tonight, with 37 more slated Tuesday night. The regional round will be followed by 15 sectional tournaments, with winners of these and the Chicago Public School champions playing at eight "super-sectional" sites for the right to go to Champaign for the final three rounds.

The Rockford West Warriors, with 6 foot, 7 inch Johnny Wessels and Nolden Gentry backed by a team at least as strong as last year's, are expected to march without trouble into the Moline super-sectional. Rockford East, beaten by West 73-61 Friday night, toughest regional foe.

Tough Alton Games
The hardest fought regional may be played at Alton. Collinsville, ranked among the best in Illinois most of the season, tonight opens against Granite City, surprise victor over Wood River Saturday night.

Wood River, a club that beat some of the area's best, tackles district winner Roxana. Also in this tournament are Alton and Edwardsville, both ranked among the top 15 quintets in the state.

Pinckneyville, rated as the second best team in the state by the United Press Coaches board, starts regional action Tuesday night. The Panthers open against Red Bud.

Swede Wins U. S. Indoor Tennis Championship
NEW YORK (AP)—The U. S. indoor tennis championship belonged to a Swede today for the second time in the last three years and this quickly brought predictions of trouble for the United States in this year's Davis Cup competition.

Ulf Schmidt, 22-year old Swede star, captured the crown in Sunday's finale by beating fellow-countryman Sven Davidson, 6-1, 6-3, 8-10, 6-3. Davidson won the title in 1954.

Although Swedes are more accustomed than Americans to playing on indoor courts and their victory was not unexpected, several observers saw in this wind-up another sign of a U. S. Davis Cup decline. One of these was big Kurt Nielsen of Denmark, himself one of Europe's top players.

"With Tony Trabert gone, what does the United States have?" asked Nielsen. "Vic Seixas is getting no better, and certainly no younger. And the others are not yet built up to true international caliber."

Locals Play Eldorado Tonight in Second Game McLeansboro Regional

The Harrisburg Bull Dogs finished out their schedule Saturday night with a 4-19 mark for the season and tonight meet Eldorado at 8:30 in the second game of the McLeansboro regional tournament. The tourney starts out with Shawneetown-Ridgway at 7:00. Tomorrow night the games are Carrier Mills-Equality at 7:00 and McLeansboro-Norris City at 8:30.

The Bull Dogs, who have lost two and won one from Eldorado this year, ended their season at Johnston City with a 67-47 loss. The Indians are a powerful outfit at present. Many fans expect them to win the West Frankfort regional and a few in southern Illinois are picking them to take the Harrisburg sectional. However, teams like Mt. Vernon and Shawneetown will have a few words to say about that. Johnston City finished the season with an 18-7 record.

Against the Indians, who used a press for a big part of the time, the locals saved close the first quarter, which ended 14-11, Johnston City leading. But the Indians increased their lead as the game progressed and came out with the point margin. However, when Harrisburg pressed in the last quarter the Bull Dogs were outscored but 21-19.

Bull Pups Lose, 62-51
Harrisburg, which shot 470 in beating West Frankfort Friday night, could hit only 250 against the Indians, connecting with 13 out of 53. Johnston City connected with 21 out of 55 for a 382 percentage.

Numerous fouls were called in this game, 28 being called against Harrisburg and 22 against Johnston City.

The big Indian, Russell DeBose, who is 6-5, connected for 21 points and scoring honors. His teammate John Sheputis, who is only a half-inch shorter, was held well. Big John made but 6. However, little Bill Slater, about 5-8, came through with 16 as did Kee.

Harrisburg's Ronnie Williams, who made 11, was high scorer for Harrisburg. Johnston City took the preliminary game from the Bull Pups, 62-51.

Three Killed in St. Louis Blaze

ST. LOUIS (AP)—St. Louis fire authorities blame building law violations for a three-alarm blaze that claimed three lives.

The dead were identified as Lloyd Cosby, 44, Mrs. Bernice Young, 36, and Mrs. Annie Alexander, 70, all Negroes.

A fourth person, Miss Viola Williams, 53, suffered a fractured pelvis early Sunday when she leaped from the top floor of the two-story brick building at 2741 Franklin Ave.

Fire Marshal Walter Bergman said, "There is no question that there is a building law violation here. The people just didn't have a chance to get out."

The blaze caused an estimated $3,500 damage.

Lawrence County Tornado Caused More Than Million Damage

PINKSTAFF, Ill. (AP)—A small tornado that struck Pinkstaff in Lawrence county early Saturday caused more than one million dollars worth of damage.

Insurance agent Lyle Cochrane of Lawrenceville reported claims of $800,000. Another insurance man, John McGaughey, also of Lawrenceville, said he has claims of $300,000 and expects more.

The tornado cut a quarter-mile path through farm buildings, utility poles and trees and tried to restore electric power and telephone service to the community today.

Find Treasure in Spinster's Home

ITASCA, Ill. (AP)—A treasure chest in a spinster's secret room has yielded $6,500 in gold coins and other currency and a wealth of Americana ranging from high-button shoes to 50-year-old valentines.

The treasure hunt is being conducted by Charles E. Newton, a Chicago attorney who was named executor of the estate of Cecelia E. Schroeder when the 76-year-old spinster died last Sept. 7.

Newton said Miss Schroeder's century-old home here is a throw-back to another age and there's no telling what its final inventory will be.

Newton discovered the second floor secret room by rolling away a dresser and pulling back a curtain which covered a small door.

Inside was more than $6,500 in cash, including coins dated 1864 and outdated half-penny and 3-cent pieces.

Newton found numerous pairs of high-button shoes, valentines dated 1900, and clipped-out advertisements for Chicago stores which have been out of business for 50 years.

Miss Schroeder was born in the drab, two-story house and lived there all her life. She kept 16 cats, never installed running water, and "never threw a thing away," Newton said.

Most of her estate, estimated at $250,000, was left to charity. She left $100 each for 11 second cousins, but nothing for nine first cousins.

Report Wilson Ordered to Speed Missile Program

WASHINGTON — American Aviation Daily reported today that President Eisenhower has instructed Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson to speed up the U. S. ballistic missile program.

The trade publication said the President also told Wilson to select a guided missile "car" quickly. Wilson announced on Feb. 1 that he intended to choose a special assistant to run the missile program, but so far he apparently has not found the man he wants.

The daily said its information came from a "reliable report" that the President wrote Wilson a letter containing such instructions.

If correct, it said, it "conceivably could mark a change in the President's attitude on the operation of the nation's guided missile program." The President told a recent news conference the United States is ahead of Russia in some missile development but it would be idle to say that the Soviets are not ahead in others.

Wilson is in Miami Beach, Fla., this week. Pentagon spokesmen were unable to say whether the secretary has received a letter from Mr. Eisenhower on the subject.

Sen. Henry M. Jackson (D-Wash.) claimed that Air Secretary Donald A. Quarles is trying to "minimize" the ballistic missile's importance to cushion the shock when Russia gets one.

Big Talk

Just a Corpse at Twilight

By Robert Martin

THE STORY: James Bennett, private investigator, found the body of Mrs. Alice Osborn, a widow, when he went to her place in an investigation of the death of her late husband Frank. Prior to her death she had signed a release, allowing an autopsy by the industrial welfare commission to determine if Frank's death was due to industrial causes. Sheriff Abner Cornwallis vows he won't permit the autopsy and tries to get the release from Bennett.

XVII

Sheriff Cornwallis looked up at me, squinting his eyes against the cigar smoke. "You're making the wrong move, son."

"All right. I've made it. It's your move now."

He must have given the bartender some sign, because Roy came from around the bar, wiping his hands on his apron. "What's the matter, Abner?" he asked.

"I'm making you a deputy, Roy," he said grimly. "If he resists, use force." He gave me his wolfish grin.

I looked at Roy. He looked at me. Then he said, "Aw, why don't you let him arrest you? I know he's drunk, but he's the sheriff, and I don't want no trouble with him."

"Good night, Roy," I said.

He hesitated, glanced at the sheriff and then back at me. I backed to the archway. "Good night, Sheriff," I called.

He was talking into the phone on the bar, but he looked up, his thin, dissolute old face cadaverous with shadows from the overhead light. I waved a hand at him, a gesture of farewell. He slammed the phone down, started around the bar, tripped over a stool and sprawled to the floor. Roy ran to help him up. I turned and walked out.

I drove at a sedate 40 miles an hour, expecting to hear the wail of a siren behind me. But I didn't. Ten miles from Beech Tree there was an intersection where the highway crossed another. It was a four-way stop, with warning red blinkers and big yellow-and-black signs. I braked at the white line and dutifully looked both ways.

It was then that the window splintered beside my face and something fire-hot caressed the back of my neck. In shock and fear I jolted forward against the wheel and pressed the gas pedal. The automatic shift zoomed me across the intersection. I swung off the road, slammed the brake pedal and stopped on hard sand beneath a towering pine tree. I shut off the motor. I put my fingers to the back of my neck, felt the warm wetness and brought them away, bloody under the dash light. I stared dumbly for a moment, and then got out a handkerchief, wiped my fingers and then pressed it against the back of my neck.

A car went past me, coming up from Steel City in the valley below. It slowed and stopped at the intersection and then roared on. A woman's laughter drifted back to me on the cool June breeze. Then silence, and suddenly I was afraid of the night and the black hills around me. I tucked the handkerchief beneath the back of my shirt collar, feeling the warm dampness, and I drove fast down into the dark valley.

There was a light in Dr. Ordway Vincetti's office, gleaming murky behind dusty panes. Apparently he was still up. I had met him and his combination nurse and secretary in April when I'd been working on another case which had also involved a widow. He was the only doctor I knew in Steel City. I rapped softly on the door. In a moment it was opened by the nurse.

"The doctor is out. What do you want?" She recognized me then. "Oh, Mr. Bennett. Come in." She stepped aside.

Through an open door I saw the doctor's office. A light burned on the desk. Behind me the woman closed the door. "What's the matter with your neck?" she asked. "Bullet-nicked me," I said, turning to face her. I touched the handkerchief tucked beneath the back of my shirt collar. "Maybe you'd better look at this for me?"

"Of course. Come in here." I followed her into the office and sat by the desk in a chair she indicated. With gentle fingers she removed the bloody handkerchief. "Close," she murmured. "Just missed the spine."

I went to the hotel. Before I went up to my room I took the autopsy release signed by Alice Osborn and placed it, envelope and all, in a hotel envelope which I sealed and stamped, addressed to Austin O'Connor and marked PERSONAL. As I dropped it into the lobby mail box I thought bleakly that it was something I should have done many hours earlier.

In the morning my neck was stiff and throbbled dully. I swallowed two of the green capsules Dr. Vincetti's nurse had given me and took a bath in the tub. I put on a yellow polo shirt, gray flannel slacks and a gray tweed jacket and left the room.

My car was ready. I left the garage. Two miles from the last traffic light I turned off the highway and stopped on a side road. With the blade of a pocket knife I dug into the hole in the seat and after a few probes I struck the chunk of lead and dug it out. I gazed at it in my palm and I knew that it was not a .22 caliber fired from a kid's target gun. A .22 can kill, of course, if it hits the right spot, as Alice Osborn very well knew, if she knew anything. But the bullet I held was high power, about a 30-30 I guessed. (To Be Continued)

Soviets Promote Marshal Zhukov

11 Members of Presidium are All Re-Elected

MOSCOW —The Soviet Communist Party promoted Defense Minister Marshal Georgi Zhukov to alternate membership on its ruling Central Committee Presidium today.

The group also affirmed its faith in Nikita S. Khrushchev by re-electing him first secretary, the top position of party power in the Soviet Union.

The promotion of Zhukov, a friend of President Eisenhower and one of the Soviet's top commanders in World War II, was another step in the greater power and stronger voice that professional military men gained in Communist inner councils at the recently concluded party congress.

At least 8 high-ranked professional military men were among the 135 members named to the Central Committee last Saturday, a significant increase.

The Central Committee's Presidium—its executive committee—totals 11 men. All of the previous 11 Presidium members were re-elected.

These are the leaders who will rule the Communist Party in the Soviet Union for the next four years.

The 11 are Premier Nikolai Bulganin, First Vice Premier L. M. Kaganovich, Party First Secretary Nikita S. Khrushchev, AML Kiri-chenko, Deputy Premier Georgi

Malenkov, First Vice Premier A. I. Mikoyan, Foreign Minister Vyacheslav M. Molotov, First Vice Premier M. G. Pervukhin, First Vice Premier M. Z. Saburov, M. A. Suslov, and Marshal Kliment Voroshilov, president of the Presidium.

TWIN-TRIGGERED for double-action take-off

(Have you tried the new Variable Pitch Dynaflow?*)

THIS is something you'll find only in a 1956 Buick.

And we think this action is so exciting, you ought to come in for a sampling before another sun sets.

For Buick's new Variable Pitch Dynaflow is more than just the smoothest, the sweetest, the most responsive transmission yet developed.

It's quick and it's nimble—it's a gas-saver and a great safety factor—the most thrilling safety measure on the American scene today.

When we say twin-triggered, we mean just that.

You move the first trigger the moment you press the gas pedal no more than an inch.

That nudge taps a fraction of the mighty power in Buick's big 322-cubic-inch V8 engine. That nudge gives you quick new getaway response. That nudge brings you all the power and snap and performance you need for normal driving and cruising. And since all this is at only part throttle, your gas mileage goes up substantially.

Then comes the next trigger—when you need all-out acceleration for an emergency safety-surge.

You just floor the pedal—and that switches the pitch of this airplane-principled transmission.

Instantly, you're at full-power take-off—and it's like a second getaway cutting in—a thrill and a safety sweep like nothing you've ever experienced before in an earthbound vehicle.

Surely you owe yourself the treat, the twin thrills, the deep satisfaction and just the sheer fun hours that go with driving the best Buick yet.

Why not come in tomorrow and match up the words with the action?

At Gallipolis, Ohio

Mr. and Mrs. Roy C. Small, newlyweds, who had spent the past several days at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Small, left Thursday for Gallipolis, Ohio, where they will make their home.

They arrived in Harrisburg after a wedding trip through Indiana and northern Illinois, following their marriage at the First Methodist church in Cadillac, Mich., Saturday evening, February 4, with Rev. Harold Kirchbauer officiating at the double ring wedding ceremony.

The bride, the former Bonnie Elaine Thomas, is the daughter of Mrs. Ann Thomas, 836 Farrar street, Cadillac, was escorted to

Mr. and Mrs. John Richard Small

John Richard Small Wed
At Presbyterian Church

Mr. and Mrs. John Richard Small are now at home at 110 North McKinley, following their wedding in the chapel of the First Presbyterian church here at 7:30 p. m., Feb. 14.

Amid a setting of candelabra, gladioli, and white chrysanthemums, the simple intimate double ring ceremony was performed by William T. Hancock, minister of the First Presbyterian church of Aurora, Ind., and longtime close friend of the bridegroom. Following the exchange of rings, the Lord's Prayer was sung by Vern Joyner Jr., accompanied by Lorene Dorris at the organ.

The bride, the former Sallie Jo Cannon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Stinson of Marion, wore a pale blue ballerina length frock with full skirt, low scalloped neckline, and elbow length sleeves. Her corsage was a pink orchid, and she wore matching accessories.

Miss Carolyn Collier, close friend of the bride, was maid of honor, and she wore a pale pink ballerina length dress, sleeveless, with low neckline, and a corsage of baby purple iris.

The bridegroom had as his best man Joe M. Jackson. Following the ceremony, which was attended by members of the couple's families, a reception was held at their new residence on North McKinley, where they cut their wedding cake. Presiding at the punch bowl were Miss Gloria Sullivan and Miss Henrietta Brown, both of Marion, who were both very close to the bride. The beautiful antique punch bowl used at the reception was a family heirloom belonging to the bride's grandmother, Mrs. James Clark of Harrisburg.

Following the reception, the couple left for a short wedding trip to Champaign and Chicago, from which they have now returned. The bride's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Stinson of Eldorado, and Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Hamby, Princeton, Ky., uncle and aunt of the bridegroom, were out-of-town guests at the wedding and reception.

Charge Decatur Man With Murder in Death of Woman

DECATUR, Ill. (AP) — George Gordon, 39, Decatur, an alleged gambler, Sunday was charged with murder in the death of a Decatur woman who was shot and killed late Saturday.

The slain woman was Geraldine Robinson, formerly of Murphysboro. Gordon surrendered a .32 caliber pistol to police and told them she had been chasing him with a knife. He said he fired one shot at her.

Police said a small knife was found near the woman. She had been employed by Gordon as a bookkeeper, according to the police report.

Gordon listed his occupation as

SUMMER'S COMING—Take comfort as you tighten your earmuffs. Summer's coming—and testimony to it is the fact that down in Ecuador they're weaving like crazy to produce the 3,600,000 "Panama" hats the U. S. will import in a few months. Above, with women weavers of Cuenca, the hat capital, looking on, five-year-old Pablo Gonzalez tries one on "for size." Ecuador's handmade, toquilla straw toppers are called "panamas" because during the French attempt to dig the Panama Canal, the famed engineer Ferdinand de Lesseps brought some on the isthmus and popularized them among his associates.

Wright Criticizes Stratton at Carmi Meeting

CARMI, Ill. (AP) — Gov. William G. Stratton came in for sharp criticism by State Treasurer Warren E. Wright Sunday for the state administration's stand on veterans bonus and state employe pay raise problems.

Wright, a GOP candidate for nomination for governor against Stratton, charged that the governor "set himself up and above and beyond the people in all things political."

Wright said the governor "had no difficulty" in seeing that a key section of a pay raise bill in the Legislature for state employes "got lost" and the bill did not become law. The governor's opposition to a pay hike was a "shabby deal," he added.

The state treasurer also charged Stratton had promised to set up an improved and coordinated veterans' program, but had failed to make any improvement whatsoever, and "had made absolutely no provision for Korean veterans."

Wright called that "shabby deal No. 2."

"Bullfrog" refers to a specific species of large frog. The sex of the animal is not involved in the name, so the female is a bullfrog.

The abbreviation "N. B." comes from the Latin "nota bene" and means literally to note well or to take notice.
